

King's College London CASE STUDY

Timescale

15 Weeks

Architect

Wilson Mason & Partners

Quantity Surveyor

Turner & Townsend

Project Manager

Mace

Consulting Engineer

Sure Engineering

Structural Engineer

Ross & Partners

Vivid carried out the refurbishment of King's College London's Grade I listed anatomy theatre and museum on the Strand campus. The museum was converted into a multi-functional space to accommodate exhibitions, talks and lectures. New state-of-the-art audio visual equipment was installed to allow broadcast quality productions to be completed and transmitted to other locations. Works included new M&E plant, electrical services, two new roof lanterns and lecture theatre seating.

