PRINCE EDWARD THEATRE

In 2004 prior to the opening of Mary Poppins, London's Prince Edward Theatre was closed for a complete refurbishment including the main entrance, auditorium and bar area.

A new bar was created with a private room and roof terrace so that audiences can walk out on the balcony outside the dress circle.

A new box office and VIP area were formed and the restroom facilities increased and modernised.

In the auditorium, new seating, flooring, specialist lighting and finishes were installed.
